The aim is to shed light on the past poor conditions in which our people was living for centuries. Yes, with these few words and phrases we can make bright area not in square kilometers but in centimeters. But it is always true to say something is better than nothing.

Our sources about our information are Italian documents. The Italian colonialists have studied in the way that we can't believe. They were really reality hunters. They did this for their different reasons. One can say they did this for the necessity of being there. This is true but this couldn't be happened without their appetite of hyena for knowing more. Of this energetic wish we also became benefitors. Thanks to this we can build a bridge that can join us with our ancestors. Let us start.

With these four keywords, የንግድ possession, possesso, አይነት property, proprietà, ሙደራ-ኑል: Mdri Guèlti and ሙደራ-ርስት: Mdri Rsti we will learn the historic land property and possession that existed for long time in the ancient Ethiopia, that is before the birth of the two modern states Eritrea and Ethiopia. As an example, Mdri Guèlti of Ekkeleguzai and Mdri Rsti of Seraye will appear. These two provinces were part of Aksumite ancient kingdom's provinces or districts. Under certain norms they were autonomous. That is why we see their different land laws.

The four above mentioned keywords they don't only tie us with the past, but also they help us to scrutinize the present. As we know all, there is slogan or formula or a belief that says: "in modern Eritrea the county is independent but the man is not free yet". But now we will also discover that the land is not common (እሳ) but private (ጥረሻ) property of the dictator Iseyas Efewerqi. This will lead us to the conclusion that both man and land are not free in Eritrea. Let us start.

- 1) The word የንግድ, from the verb ወንድ, means ጥሩት, ... the verb አጥረዋ, . In English it means 'possession'; in Italian possesso.

For example: እዚ መጽሕፍ እኩ እብ እኔ ፍቃድ የንግድ.

This book is in my possession.

Questo libro è nel mio possesso.

- 2) The word አይነት has Amharic root and it means የዝዕብ. In English it means property; and in Italian proprietà.

For example:

አይነት ፍቃድ ቀዳማ እንተለለቷዋል

intellectual property

proprietà intellettuale

አይነት ቤት እኩ ፍቃድ አይነት

this house is my property

questa casa è di mia proprietà

- 3 and 4) The terms ነፈት: Guèlti and ርስት: Rsti are feudal of middle age words and have only local characters. For this it is not easy to find English or Italian words that have the same meanings. But is not difficult to learn them when we study the relationship between king, land and peasant; king » land « peasants.

For our case first will study ሙደራ-ኑል: Mdri Guèlti of Ekkeleguzai. Inside of this ሙደራ-ርስት: Mdri Rsti of Seraye. The reason is, in this special case, first comes guèlti and then follows rsti. From this it is always true to say guèlti is a large area of land greater than rsti. While a rsti is a section of the land given to the normal vassal (= የኢትዮጵያ, በግልጽ). This can be ቁጽሬም ዓይነት.

Short history of Ekkeleguzay Mdri Guèlti or land concession (=መብት)

I didn't find any document that gives any evidence if Ekkeleguzay has different history of land concession from the rest of Abyssinia. This is impossible because Ekkeleguzay was part and parcel of Abyssinia and has history like the rest part of Abyssinia. This is to say that Ekkeleguzai is the result of the Abyssinian king (s) land concession policy, like Fetha Nagast "Law of the Kings" and others, that was prevailing for many years.

What makes unique Ekkeleguzay from the rest Abyssinian history is its politics. << The region of Accheleguzai, for example, before the conquest of Degiace Ubie (1844), it was always a straight-shaped Federal Republican, while recognizing the sovereignty of the Negus, to which the rest is made modest tribute by the offer of a carpet and a rifle on every occasion of the feast of Mesqel (Cross). In fact the country was always alone: the elective offices of the addi-scium (village heads), meshenìà, the scium Guèlti (capital district); elective also the supreme authority of the confederation, which was not collected in a single person, but in mahber of scium-addi (meeting of Heads country) (Caffarel, William, La Legislazione Dell'Eritrea, in F. Martini, l'Eritrea Economia, Novara, p.470.).

Why was Ekkeleguzay paying modest tribute of a carpet and a rifle on every occasion of the feast of Mesqel to the sovereignty of the Negus? Because the land was Kings' property (እኩዕስ). In other words Ekkeleguzay was only in the possession (የጥንት) of the land.

In order to understand good, let us see simple example. Mr. Y is an author and a seller of his books. One day Mr. X came and bought two books, one history and the other Biology book. After that transfer of possession from Mr. Y to Mr. X took place. Then the two books were in Mr. X possession. But there is no transfer of intellectual property. This is always of Mr. Y. In this example the status of People of Ekkeleguzay matches with that of Mr. Y and that of the king with that of Mr. X.

What is Mdri Guèlti and Mdri-rsti? Guèlti, << is called so that extension of territory under the jurisdiction of a field or a corporate body or morals, who have the right and the duty to cultivate ... to require certain taxes ... and the right to an authority subordinate to that of the sovereign himself or officials delegated by him >> R. Perini, op. cit. p.48. The Guèlti is gone among the inhabitants in a succession of periods ranging from three to seven years, while in Seraye the collective fund is allocated once and for all, and is therefore said resti, hereditary land >> (Barzano, John, and value the Offspring customary law in the Statutes Eritrean Plateau, Asmara, 1979 p.12, note 23).

5) Job of dayna or chqqa

- " a) Ritirare dai paesi dipendenti a mezzo dei rispettivi chqqa/dayna o capi villaggio il tributo per versarlo al Sovrano;
- b) Riunire e comandare gli armati in guerra;
- c) Amministrare la giustizia di primo grado, se le parti in causa sono di diverso paese; di secondo grado se, di eguale paese, furono in primo grado giudicate dal chqqa;
- d) Deferire al Sovrano le cause da esso guèlteyna giudicate e per le quali venne interposto appello.

6) Guèlteyna's privileges

I privilegi del guèlteyna sono due:

- a) quello di ritenere un decimo dell'importo totale del tributo (gbri) da consegnare al Sovrano;
- b) e quello di far coltivare dai paesi dipendenti a suo beneficio un numero variabile di campi, in maniera però da non superare un decimo del terreno coltivato di ciascun resti. Questi campi prendono il nome di grat-scum ed è in causa di essi che si ebbe e verificare il maggiore numero di abusi, quando, cessata la carica di guèlteyna, tali terreni rimasero ugualmente in possesso dell'ex-feudatario e dei suoi discendenti, sicché molti grat-scum

6) Guèlteyna's privileges

The privileges of guèlteyna are two:

- a) to consider a tenth of the total amount of the tax (gbri) to be delivered to the Sovereign;
- b) and to cultivate the countries employees for its benefit a variable number of fields, but in a manner as not to exceed one tenth of the cultivated land of each remains. These fields are called scrape scum and it is because of them that had the highest number of check and abuse, when, once the charge guèlteyna, these lands were still in possession of the former feudal lord and his descendants, so many grat-scum neck became as time goes on actual properties under the title of medri-werqi and even sometimes remains (Renzo Sertoli Salis, Eritrean land tenure, Padua, 1932-X, p. 31-32).

7) Condizioni per la concessione del feudo; tanto di signoria quanto di popolamento, erano:

- la fedeltà al Sovrano,
- il pagamento del gbri in denaro o in natura,
- il mantenimento delle truppe di passaggio o di stanza nelle località,
- la prestazione di opere di pubblica utilità (in specie le stradali),
- l'obbligo del servizio militare in guerra per tutti i validi alle armi al segnale d'adunata (ktet ክተት), ecc. (p.34).

8) Breve rassegna del regime (sistema di governo) fondiario Abissino, giova accennare a due altre forme di proprietà fondiario: il medri-ngus e il medri-qesci. Il primo consiste in una proprietà diretta del potere sovrano ed è costituito da tutti quei territori, sia resti che guèlti, i quali vengono a trovarsi in libera o temporanea disponibilità dello Stato e più precisamente in libera disponibilità: i terreni abbandonati momentaneamente da stirpe e famiglie emigrate o le zone coltivate o di pascolo espressamente riservatesi dal Negus nelle provincie dipendenti. Appartengono alla categoria dei mdri-ngus anche talune località date in affitto per un determinato canone, come ad esempio al tempo della colonia Italiana molte terre fuori dall'altopiano della Colonia, dove non c'è popolazione stabile né abitazioni permanenti, e per le concessione in affitto delle quali zone esisteva un diritto antichissimo de prelazione a favore di determinate tribù.

I medri-qesci, e parimenti i medri-fellassi, erano invece una specie di benefici ecclesiastici che presentavano caratteri diversi a seconda dei luoghi. Alcuni di essi costituivano caratteri diversi a seconda dei luoghi. Alcuni di essi costituivano un vero e proprio diritto autonomo e originario simile al rsti, altri non erano che un diritto di usufrutto perpetuo o temporaneo. Riguardo a cotesti benefici vige la consuetudine che essi vanno esenti da tributo e che in nessun caso possono venire alienati (p. 35)

9) Può la terra ritornare in libera disponibilità del Governo? Una volta riconosciuta la proprietà (il possesso: vincolo feudale tra il guèlteyna e i soggetti e non già diritto di proprietà) del singolo, si individuo che gente, la

7) Conditions for the grant of the estate, so much of what lordship of population, were:

- Loyalty to the Sovereign,
- Payment of gbri in cash or in kind,
- The maintenance of the troops passing through or stationed in the locality,
- The provision of public works (especially the road)
- The obligation of military service in the war for all available weapons to signal assembly (ktet ክተት, etc. (p.34).

8) A brief summary of the system (system of government) land Abyssinian , it is useful to mention two other forms of land ownership : the medri - ngus and medri - qesci . The first is a direct property of the sovereign power and consists of all those territories , whether that remains guèlti , which are to be released for free or temporary availability of the state , more specifically in Iberian availability : land temporarily abandoned by family and lineage emigrated or cultivated areas or grazing expressly reserved by Negus employees in the provinces . They belong to the category of mdri - ngus also leased certain location for a certain fee , such as the time of the Italian settler many lands outside the plateau of Cologne, where there is no permanent population nor permanent housing , and for the grant rent areas of which there was an ancient right of first refusal in favor of certain tribes .

The medri - qesci , and also the medri - fellassi , were instead a kind of ecclesiastical benefices which had different characters depending on the location . Some of them represented different characters depending on the location . Some of them were a real independent right and similar to the original rsti , others were not that a right of perpetual usufruct or temporary. About him to the benefits applies the custom that they should be exempt from tribute , and that in no case can be disposed of (p. 35)

terra non può ritornare in libera disponibilità del Governo che nei casi tassativamente fissati, i quali sono i seguenti:

9) Can the land back to free availability of government? Once recognized ownership (possession: feudal bond between the guèltyna and subjects and not ownership) of the individual, the individual people, the land cannot return to the free disposal of the Government that in the cases exhaustively set, which are the following:

- 1) total extinction of the race;
- 2) confiscation for rebellion or felony;
- 3) failure to pay the tax;
- 4) voluntary renunciation or abandonment of land as a result of permanent emigration.

10) Community leaders. The following community leaders were between the king and

- a) አጭዳና: chief, authority, in charge of some office
- b) አጭ: chief town, or district, the Mayor, in charge
- c) አጭነገት: chief consists of a region, the governor

- f) ስምግል: Senior representative, counselor, notable
- g) አካጥ: brothers, elected representatives of lineages.

11) Un decimo del territorio dell'addi era sempre a libera disposizione del Sovrano col titolo di esciur donde il nome di guèlti-esciur e così pure a disposizione del Negus erano quelle parti del guèlti che, per ordine del Sovrano, dovevamo essere gratuitamente coltivate a favore di persone od enti designati (guèlti ametz). Quanto alla durata, il guèlti gentilizio era generalmente perpetuo, il guèlti feudale temporaneo ed aveva bisogno di riconferma da parte del successore del concedente (p. 34).

One-tenth/ዕስክር of the territory

11) One-tenth of the territory of the addi was always at the free disposal of the Sovereign with the title of esciur hence the name guèlti-esciur and so also available to the Negus had those parts of guèlti that, by order of the Sovereign, had grown to be free benefit of persons or entities designated (guèlti ametz). As for the length, the noble guèlti was generally perpetual, guèlti the feudal temporary and needed reaffirmation by the successor of the grantor (p. 34).

PERINI, op. cit. p.48. Il Gullit viene sparito fra gli abitanti in una successione di periodi che vanno dai tre ai sette anni, mentre nel Seraye il fondo collettivo è ripartito una volta per sempre, ed è perciò detto restiii, terreno ereditario >>(Barzano, Giovanni, Valore e Diritto Della Prole negli Statuti Consuetudinari dell'Altipiano Eritreo, Asmara, 1979, p.12, note 23).

Learning four words: property, pos-ses-sion, mdri guèlti and mdri rsti.

What is the difference between estate (= mdri gulti) and fief (=mdri rsti)?

Estate is a large area of land in country which is owned by family or organization and is often used for growing crops or raising animals, as an example mdri gulti of Ekkeleguzai.

While a fief is a section of the land given to the normal vassal (= ደለግዕላዊ ከዘን, በግልጽ) by the lord or king in return for the service of the lord or king , as an example mdri rsti of Seraye.

The two given examples, mdri gulti of Ekkeleguzai and of mdri rsti of Seraye do not match exactly with definitions that are in because the politics or the system that formed mdri gulit and rsti is very old that was in the middle ages. But we will try to catch if by bringing examples. Let us start with Ekkeleguai.

La regione dell'Acchele guzai, per esempio, prima della conquista di Degiace Ubie (1844), si è sempre retta a forma federale repubblicana, pur riconoscendo l'alta sovranità del Negus, alla quale del resto si rendeva modestamente omaggio mediante l'offerta di un tappeto e di un fucile ad ogni ricorrenza della festa del Mesqel (Croce). In fatto quel paese fu sempre autonomo: elettive le cariche dei scium-addi (capi paese), meshenìà, dei scium gulti (capi-distretto); elettiva parimenti l'autorità suprema della confederazione, che non era raccolta in una persona sola, ma nel mahber dei scium-addi (adunanza dei capi paese) (Caffarel, William, La Legislazione Dell'Eritrea, in F. Martini, l'Eritrea Economia, Novara, p.470.)

Il sistema amministrativo della giustizia di ogni addi paese e di ogni gulti, territorio di una stirpe, era affidato alla saggezza del capo di distretto o di ciascun paese, coadiuvato dal consiglio mahbar, dei rappresentanti shmaglle i quali nei loro processi giudiziari si rifacevano a disposizioni consuetudinarie formulate in precedenti grandi riunioni waéla, di capi stirpi shum ehwat, abbotat, ed eletti shumanenti e tramandate oralmente bqeyya, ovvero conservate in codici scritti debter (Barzano, Giovanni, Valore e Diritto Della Prole negli Statuti Consuetudinari dell'Altipiano Eritreo, Asmara, 1979, p.13).

The region of Acchele guzai, for example, before the conquest of Degiace Ubie (1844), it was always a straight-shaped Federal Republican, while recognizing the sovereignty of the Negus, to which the rest is made modest tribute by the offer of a carpet and a rifle on every occasion of the feast of Mesqel (Cross). In fact the country was always alone: the elective offices of the addi-scium (village heads), meshenìà, the scium gulti (capital district); elective also the supreme authority of the confederation, which was not collected in a single person, but in mahber of scium-addi (meeting of Heads country) (Caffarel, William, La Legislazione Dell'Eritrea, in F. Martini, l'Eritrea Economia, Novara, p.470.).

"The administrative system of justice in every addi country and every gulti, the territory of a race, it was entrusted to the wisdom of the head of each district or country, assisted by the board mahbar, of which represented shmaglle in their judicial processes were based on provisions customary asked in previous waéla large meetings, leaders of tribes shum ehwat, abbotat, and elected shumanenti and bqeyya handed down orally, or stored in codes written debter"(Barzano, Giovanni, Valore e Diritto Della Prole negli Statuti Consuetudinari dell'Altipiano Eritreo, Asmara, 1979, p.13).
